Community for the space-colony simulation game Oxygen Not Included, developed by Klei. Good source of power for late game which isn't petroleum? So my power supply is normally manual generators ...

Now I'm looking for mid-game self-sustaining energy setup to produce 5-10 kW. 5-10 kW is quite a bit for self-sustaining. The ONLY way you're going to get that power as a renewable source ...

I still play in sandbox mode while trying to figure out the game mechanics and so far I've been unable to design any sort of powergrid capable of driving enough gas and liquid pumps to keep ...

Pwater offgasses polluted oxygen, and when you purify polluted oxygen with a deodorizer (which runs on sand), it produces clay.

Players must carefully manage resources like oxygen and water while building a base in Oxygen Not Included. Different generators have varying power outputs and resource requirements, ...

Foundations of medical oxygen systems has been compiled to capture definitions, technical requirements, tools and resources related to medical oxygen systems based on information ...

Solar power, meanwhile, requires minimal input - It's a really low maintenance power source, especially if you're on an asteroid that doesn't suffer from meteor showers. Glass takes a bit ...

Oxygen is a life-saving essential medicine with no substitution. Healthcare professionals use oxygen to treat respiratory illnesses like COVID-19 and pneumonia. Oxygen is also essential for ...

Having too much oxygen is pretty much never the problem; eventually, you'll need to pump that air back into your base when you need it. So pump it straight into normal vents, and they will naturally ...

You should ideally have your generators only producing enough power to run your base as it is by connecting
